DETAILED ACTION

1. The finality of office Action on merits, dated 4 January 2007, is hereby withdrawn.
A new non-final office action is presented here below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

- (b) The invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- (e) The invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- (e) The invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 34 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Caser et al. (U.S. Patent # 5,754,476).

Caser et al. disclose the claimed subject matters a system (figure 1), including a phase generator and integrated circuit (figure 1, item 7), a charge pump, input output node (Abstract line 1-5), a switching transistor (figure 1, item P11), a first capacitor (figure 1, item C11), first end coupled to gate of switching transistor (figure 1, item 1 and P11), a second capacitor (figure 1, item C15), an intermediate node (figure 1, item A), a third capacitor (figure 1, item C21), fourth capacitor (figure 1, item C25) and a second intermediate node (figure 1, item B) and clock generator (figure 1, item CKGEN).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 34-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McDaniel (U.S. Patent # 5,301,097) in combination with Oowaki et al. (U.S. Patent # 5,969,998).

McDaniel disclose the claimed invention a system (figure 4-5), including a charge pump stages, an integrated circuit (column 1, line 5-15), a first and second clock signal (figure 4, item 200 and 201), an input and output node (Abstract, line 1-5), a switching transistor (figure 4, line 220, 230, 240 and 250), a first capacitor (figure 4, item 221), a second capacitor (figure 4, item 236), an intermediate node and first clock signal (figure 4, item 200). However McDaniel does not disclose the utilization of the technique for a first and second intermediate node set to the predetermined voltage level. Oowaki et al. teaches the utilization of the similar technique for a first and second intermediate node set to the predetermined voltage level (Abstract, line 1-20). It would have been obvious one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify McDaniel's charge pump circuit by utilizing the technique taught by Oowaki et al. for the purpose of to attain high reliability by minimizing the occurrence of TDDB damage.

For method claims 25-33, note that under MPEP 21 12.02, the principles of inherency, if a prior art device, in its normal and usual operation, would necessarily perform the method claimed, then the method claimed will be considered to be anticipated by the prior art device. When the prior art device is the same as a device described in the specification for carrying out the claimed method, it can be assumed the device "1 inherently performs the claimed process. In re King, 801 F.2d 1324, 231 will not be repeated.
